The department of Justice should immediately settle the Microsolf case, that never really was a case anyway, but rather, a governmental vendetta, birthed by greedy jealous competitors, and picked up by opportunistic politicians looking for the next corporation to raid. Remember the old saying "when you rob peter to pay Paul, Paul is always on your side". this is what this amounts to political extortion of a company that has helped free the world. Go Microsolt, and I do not own stock, and No one I know works for the company. Duane Dier, Seattle, Wa
